Annual Field Day

Maine Livestock Breeders Will Meet
August 4th at Rumford

The Maine Livestock Breeders will hold their annual meeting at the home of E. C. and H. A. Frost in Rumford, according to an announcement made by Richard F. Talbot, secretary of the Maine Livestock Breeders Association and Extension Dairy Specialist.

In making this announcement Talbot pointed out the fact that each year the field day is held in a different section of the state in order that the breeders may have a good opportunity to attend a day at least once every two or three years but many attend every year regardless of the distance which they must travel. This is the first time that the field day has been held in this particular section of Maine. The last one was at Sawyer's farm in Greene.

Some of the cows are of a show type as well as utility. The farm has been represented in the show ring at many times in the past two years. Most of the stock owned by this herd is made into butter which is sold in Rumford.

On the farm there is practically a new barn and a home made saw mill. It is about two miles from Rumford and the program is rapidly being put into effect.

Short Wave Adapter

That Brings in High Frequency Reception on Speaker Through Your Broadcast Receiver

Below the broadcast band there is an immense virgin field for the radio pioneer to explore. Already this field teems with life and activity, but it is the life of the jungle and the activity of hunter and trapper, of the more venturesome. There is not a turn of the dial which does not reveal an unsuspected whistle, melody, discourse, conversation, every sound fraught with interest and capable of being caught, tamed and naturalized in the loud speaker.

Everybody, it seems, wants to join in the exploration and subjugation of this region. Everybody wants to get his share of the game it contains, and everybody else takes all it contains without detracting from the total. The more that is taken, the more there will be to take from that field, for the more will be put into it.

The simple, One Tube Hammarlund Adapter is all the equipment you will need for an expedition if you already have a receiver.

Old Book Room Treasures

(No. 2)
By C. F. Whitman

The late Judge Herrick C. Davis, was a poet. The other day I came across a treasure in his handwriting. This is a copy of it:

To the Old Elm House Piazza
They gather their old headed stories told
The saying crowd of young and old
Who open the tales that books admire,
Who shout and who sing, and who sing
Who shout and who sing, and who sing
To avoid the draft and shoulder a gun.
The coming shade they shall no more know,
For wind hands have laid them low.

In a sketch of Sylvanus Cobb Jr.'s, life in Norway, it is related that he with lawyer Wm. Wirt Virgin, afterwards a judge of the Supreme Court of Maine, sang hymns in the choir of the Universalist church. Cobb was an artist and often sketched "the pulpit and pews." Some of them are very grotesque. "The minister was Rev. Mr. F. who was tall and bald and some of the attitudes he would strike were very ludicrous." It was a great curiosity to ascertain who this "Rev. Mr. F." was. He was evidently Rev. J. W. Ford, who was pastor of the Universalist Society here three years from 1854 to 1858. Where he came from or where he went to is unknown to the writer. He left no lasting impression on the Society or the town. He was succeeded by Rev. Joseph C. Snow, one of the most popular and able preachers the society has ever had.

Rev. Mr. Virgin was also something of an artist. The writer found among the papers in the Clerk of Courts office, the Maine notes taken in a trial before him. This was prior to the time when stenographers took down the testimony of witnesses and the charge of the presiding judge in shorthand. In this notebook were pencil sketches of some of the witnesses, lawyers, etc. I doubt if Cobb was a better character than Virgin.

When Doctor Asa Danforth came as a young man to Norway, he brought with him the following recommendation of Doctor Stephen Cummings to William Reed, the Postmaster of the village and one of the principal citizens:

Portland, Sept. 20th, 1820, William Reed, Esq., Norway, Dear Sir: Doctor Asa Danforth the bearer of this, travels in good part of the country, for the purpose of looking out a place for the practice of physic. Perhaps you might think it an object for him to tarry in Norway. Doctor Danforth is a gentleman of the first responsibility, has gone through a regular course of study with one of the most able physicians and has passed an examination before the medical society in Boston, and no doubt would be a very careful man in the profession. Your attention to him will confer a great favor on your friend and Serv't, Stephen Cummings.

Recently Mr. Reed did think it an object for the young physician to tarry in Norway, for his daughter Abigail, fell in love with him and became his wife. They had a family of eight children and some of the descendants live in the town of Norway to this very day. The Doctor taught some fifty years of practice here and in the vicinity, won the hearts of the people as no other physician has ever done. He died in his 84th year, greatly lamented by everybody.

And who was Dr. Stephen Cummings? He was the son of Jonathan Cummings, a Man of the Revolution, who was the proprietor of the Cummings tract, now in what is now Center Norway, extending northward to the Green Mountains line. Doctor Stephen Cummings was born in Andover, Mass., Jan. 17, 1781. He married Eleanor Hale and came to Waterford where he was clerk of the proprietors of the township and was one of the town's principal officers. He moved to Portland, where he became known as a physician and surgeon. He died at Cape Elizabeth in 1854. In the year for the Railroad, to determine whether Portland or Boston should be its terminus, from Montreal, Ore. He lived in Norway, one of the three survivors to ride over the proposed route in winter, made his first lap from Portland to Brown's Hotel in Gray, a distance of sixteen miles with Dr. Stephen Cummings' old racking mare in fifty-five minutes. This was the fastest time made by any of the horses on the whole route. Dr. Stephen Cummings had a son, Stephen, who married a daughter of Dr. Wm. C. Whitney and settled in Norway. There has been a Stephen Cummings in every generation of the old family, descendants, to the son of Dr. Stephen B. Cummings.

Greatest advance in motoring

STUDEBAKER'S Ball Bearing Spring "Shackles"

In these new cars a patented invention at last solves a problem that has long baffled automotive engineers.

Every motorist knows the importance of spring shackles—those joints or hinges which form the connecting link between body and axles. Engineers have sought to reduce friction to a minimum at these vital joints—to make them flexible yet firm and uniform in action—to make them noiseless—to reduce the necessity for frequent lubrication. All these objectives have now been attained in Studebaker cars.

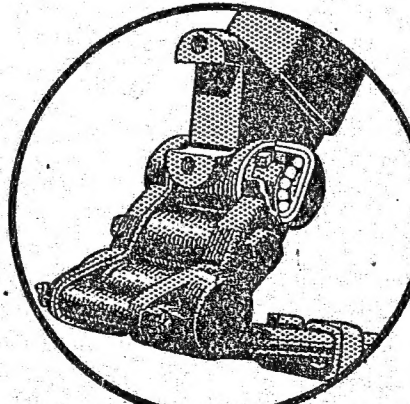

So revolutionary is this sensational innovation that the word "shackles," with its implication of restricted movement, is no longer applicable. The incessant action and reaction between body and axles is now carried by 172 steel balls rolling in lubricant—no binding, no squeaks, no rattles, no sideway. Instead, smooth, silent resiliency, an undeviating uniformity of action and an enduring buoyancy that will keep your Studebaker young.

In place of complicated centralized systems for oiling and greasing, each ball bearing spring "shackle" contains, sealed within it, ample lubricant to last for more than twenty thousand miles.

Come ride in a new Studebaker today. Thrill to its champion performance. See rare new beauty of line and color. Then compare Studebaker's new low One-Price prices—the triumph of 76 years' manufacturing experience!

Sunday School Lesson

(By Rev. P. B. FIZWATER, D.D., Dean Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(C. 1222. Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for July 29

THE FIRST FOREIGN MISSIONARIES

LESSON TEXT—Acts 13:1-52.
GOLDEN TEXT—Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you; and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul and His Friends Go to Tell Others About Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul and Barnabas Sent as Missionaries.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Paul and Barnabas Won the Young People and Adult People to the Holy Spirit in Missions.

This lesson marks the beginning of foreign missions as the deliberately planned enterprise of the church. The occasion for the beginning of this work was a meeting of certain prophets and teachers at Antioch. While these ministers were engaged in praying the Lord laid upon their hearts so heavily the evangelization of the world that they refrained from eating in order to seek the will of the Lord in prayer. This is the kind of fasting that marks God's approval.

1. Barnabas and Saul Sent Forth (vv. 2, 3).

The Spirit directed the church to send forth Barnabas and Saul to the work whereunto He had called them. The Spirit called and the church seconded the motion by sending those who were Spirit-called. A real call to missionary service comes from the Holy Spirit. It should be the concern of the church to constantly seek the mind of the Spirit relative to the sending forth of laborers into the Lord's vineyard. It is to be noted that the Spirit called and the church sent the very best men from their company at Antioch. This is as it should be. Success in the mission field is dependent upon the laying of her best men and women upon the altar by the church.

2. Barnabas and Saul Preaching the Word of God in Cyprus (vv. 4, 5).

After a second session of prayer and fasting the church formally ordained these first foreign missionaries for their work. Ordination by the imposition of hands has its proper place. Cyprus being the home of Barnabas perhaps accounts for their first going to this country. It is most natural that those who have heard the good news should go first to their kindred and friends. Then, too, Barnabas was acquainted with the country and people and could thus be assured of a proper hearing among them. Andrew first went to his brother, and the man out of whom the demons were cast was commanded by Christ to go home and tell what great things the Lord had done for him (Luke 9:30).

3. Barnabas and Saul Withstood by Elymas, the Sorcerer (vv. 6-12).

Sergius Paulus, the deputy, invited Barnabas and Saul to tell him of the Word of God. Elymas maliciously sought to turn the deputy's mind from the faith. This first obstacle encountered, as the gospel was being carried to the heathen world, was overcome through the power of the Holy Spirit. Paul denounced Elymas in most scathing terms, calling him the child of the devil, declaring that he was full of guile and villany, pronouncing him the enemy of all righteousness, and accusing him of perverting the right ways of the Lord.

4. Paul and Barnabas in the Synagogue at Antioch in Pisidia (vv. 13-16).

From Paphos Paul and Barnabas with Mark went northward to Perga. It is from this place, perhaps because of hardship, that Mark went back. He started out with good intentions, but the trials seemed too great for him to endure. Mark redeemed himself later, though when they started on their second missionary journey Paul would not consent for Mark to accompany them, although he later testified in Mark's favor (II Tim. 4:11). From Perga they went to Antioch in Pisidia and entered the synagogue on the Sabbath day. While he was the apostle to the Gentiles he began with the Jews. After the usual reading of the Scriptures, in response to the invitation of the rulers, Paul delivered his first recorded sermon. This sermon is worthy of careful study. When analyzed we find it had four parts. 1. Historical (vv. 17-23). 2. Political (vv. 24-27). 3. Doctrinal (vv. 28, 29). 4. Practical (vv. 30, 41).

The effect of this sermon was that many Jews and proselytes requested to hear these words again. Almost the whole city came to hear the Word of God the next Sabbath. While many came to hear these words jealousy provoked open opposition.

Take Heed

Wherefore take heed of being painted fire, wherein is no warmth; and gilded flowers, which retain no smell; and of being painted trees, wherein is no fruit. "Whoso boasteth himself of a false gift, is like clouds and wind without rain."—John Bunyan.

The people turned out in goodly number but nothing could be done to save it and it was some distance from any other buildings so there was no danger of spreading so they returned to their work and let it burn. It was reported that it was going to be torn down next year. Two little boys are said to have confessed to have been the cause of it. They got matches and went there to play and built a fire which got ahead of them bigger than they intended and they went out to tell of it.

Library Association Supper—Clarence Wadleigh Here From Kansas—Meeting of L. M. R. C.

Rev. Harry Whiteley, Mrs. Whiteley and the two children, Evelyn and Doris of Woodlawn, have been here for a short stay with friends, who were very glad to see them. The Library Association held a strawberry and cold meat supper in the vestry, Wednesday evening, from which they realized twenty four dollars. They are working hard to cancel their indebtedness and the general public are much interested and helpful.

Robert Chellis of Brookline, Mass., was the week end guest of Mrs. E. R. Chellis. Clarence Wadleigh of Centralia, Kansas, for the last forty years, but in his boyhood days claiming Kezar Falls as his home is enjoying to the full the "native health".

While on the state of his adoption, he has enjoyed the meeting of the friends of long ago, and visiting the resting place of others, "gone but not forgotten".

"Not medicine, but change of scene" he advised him and he has verified the words. Mr. Wadleigh is much impressed with the progress of the village. The water system, for instance, the electric lights, the modern church, the well kept cemetery, good school houses, enlarged mills, well painted houses and well kept lawns, all bespeak prosperity and he sums it all up with the words, "It is a lovely village".

NORWAY VICINITY

L. D. Gibson, special representative of the American Pork and Hoe Co., who has been here some time, is in Canada on a business trip. Arnold Hasty, having become "fed up" on pumping tires by hand, is trying to unite an electric motor, an old bicycle pump and a discarded water truck into a machine which will do the work quickly and easily. He has the parts mounted on a movable base so to move it from tire to tire when it is in working condition. His idea is very good and it worked on his first try-out. Abraham Saelely has employment at Boulder Brook Camps at Center Lovell for the season. He is home for a while from Harnesville, Conn., where he completed a college course. For some years he has resided at Port Pierce, Fla. The lot where the Elms House formerly stood is being graded, for what purpose is not made public. Miss Bessie Klain of Boston is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Klain, at the Falls. Chief Warden Lester E. Brown of Portland and Warden Albert A. Towse were called to the eastern part of the county last Monday, on fish and game business.
